Season Ticket Information

Season ticket prices will be the same as last season, with the exception that the $6.00 seats on the side of the first Balcony are increased in price to $8.00 for next season's series of ten concerts. Last season's subscribers have a priority of choice of location and may retain their same seats for the coming season. Saturday, May 30th, is the last day that this privilege may be exercised. The seating plan will be open to new subscribers on Monday, June the 8th.

It has been decided to increase the single concert ticket prices for at least five of next season's series concerts. Subscribers to the series, who have in the past been given a reduction of 20%, will, therefore, benefit by an increased discount because of this change.

Season ticket orders for less than the full series cannot be accepted at the reduced subscription price, which is based on the subscriber taking tickets for the entire series.

Season tickets are payable in advance, but on application to the Symphony office, the Management will arrange convenient terms for those unable to pay the full amount at the present time.
